

Royal Caribbean Cruise Job Requirements

Here are the important criteria...

- Age Requirement: You must be at least 21 years old for most positions. Some entry-level roles may accept candidates aged 18 and above.
- Valid Passport: Since you'll be traveling to multiple international destinations, a valid passport with at least six months of validity is essential.
- Work Visa & Seafarer Documents: Depending on your nationality and the ship's itinerary, you may need a C1/D visa (for U.S. waters) or a Seaman's Book. Royal Caribbean often assists successful candidates in obtaining the necessary documents.
- Medical Fitness: A pre-employment medical exam is mandatory. Cruise ship jobs require you to be physically fit, as they involve standing for long periods and handling emergencies if needed.
- Fluency in English: Since English is the primary working language onboard, strong communication skills are essential. Additional language skills are a plus, especially for guest-facing roles.
- Relevant Experience: Prior experience in hospitality, customer service, or the maritime industry is preferred.
- Medical Fitness: Candidates must pass a pre-employment medical examination to ensure they meet health standards.
- Background Check: A clean criminal record is necessary, as all applicants undergo background checks.
